AT COLE'S THEATRE

In his picture, "City Lights," which comes to Cole's Theatre this week end, Charlie Chaplin applies the rules of the young man who made good to his hobo hero. This time, the forlorn, dog-eared little tramp tries to lift himself up by the boot-strap, first as a white wing, then a prize fighter, and finally a man about town. It is acclaimed as his best yet.

Kenneth Harlan and Charles Delaney, sharing equal honors in the featured roles of "Air Police," the Thrill-Drama at Cole's Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, were selected for their parts in this smashing drama of the air because they both had had considerable flying experience during the war, as well as for their ability as screen players. Both actors are licensed air pilots, and thus contribute to their roles a stirring realism which heightens the tenacity of the exciting air duels.

Josephine Dunn, the platinum-blond beauty, appears in the leading feminine role, that of Dolores, an exotic dancer in a border cantina. Miss Dunn has made rapid strides towards stardom since she made her film debut.

"Don't Bet on Women" is the smartest comedy drama turned out by the Fox Studios in months. It has a flawless cast, with Una Merkel, J. M. Kerrigan and Helene Millard, in addition to those mentioned, and it teems with sparkling dialog supplied by Lynn Stirling and Leon Gordon. At Cole's Theatre, September 18 and 19th.

PINCHER CREEK PLEASE NOTE

A wise western town has torn down traffic signs and replaced them with: "Park anywhere you like, as long as you like—we want your trade."

DUTIL-MACHIN

An interesting wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, September 9th, at Holy Ghost rectory, Coleman, when Blanche Evelyn, youngest daughter of Mr. William Machin, of Coleman, was united in marriage to Wilfrid Louis, only son of Mrs. A. M. Dutil, of Blairmore, Rev. Father Lehman officiating.

The bride looked very charming in an Alice blue suit with Empress Eugene hat to match. Her bouquet was of opelia roses.

Miss Phyllis Stone, the bride's only attendant, was charmingly attired in a sea green gown of georgette, with large white hat. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The groom's attendant was Mr. George Kafoury, also of Blairmore.

After a buffet supper, served at the home of the bride, the happy couple left on a two-weeks' honeymoon trip to Spokane, Seattle and other coast cities. Upon their return, they will reside in Coleman where the groom is engaged in business.

SAVILLE-PELLETIER NUPTIALS

Miss Beatrice Saville, daughter of Mrs. Josephine Saville, of Sausalito, was married to Mr. Louis Pelletier at Grace Cathedral, San Francisco, at 6 o'clock Monday evening, August 17.

Only the immediate family and other relatives were in attendance at the ceremony. A wedding dinner followed at Hotel Stewart, after which Mr. and Mrs. Pelletier started on their honeymoon, their destination unknown. On their return, they will make their home in Sausalito.

Mrs. Pelletier is noble grand of Blythdale Rebekah Lodge, Mill Valley. Her lodge sisters gave her a shower following the announcement of her engagement, but the marriage at this time came to them and other friends as a surprise.

Mr. Pelletier holds a responsible business position in San Francisco.

Mr. Pelletier is a former Pincher Creek and Blairmore lad, being the second son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Pelletier.

BELLEVUE FLOWER SHOW

IS VERY LARGELY ATTENDED

The annual exhibition of the Bellevue Horticultural, Industrial and Poultry Society, held in the arena at Bellevue on Monday, September 7th (Labor Day) was the most successful yet held. During the afternoon, hundreds of people from all parts of the district gathered to witness the splendid display of flowers, vegetables, handicraft, poultry, school art etc.

The Bellevue band was in attendance throughout the day, and added enlivening airs to the atmosphere.

In connection with the exhibition, a field sports programme was staged, the chief feature of which was the annual five-mile marathon, which was easily won by Arthur Fournier.

The complete list of awards for the exhibition and sports will appear in a later issue of The Enterprise.

In the evening a grand dance was staged in the Oddfellows' hall, and from 9 p.m. till 3 a.m. on Tuesday the hall was packed to overflowing and a most enjoyable time was had by all.

HIGH PRAISE FOR

BELLEVUE'S SHOW

BELLEVUE, Sept. 5.—A Calgary judge made this comment on a flower show held in Bellevue:

"There is a little mining town in the heart of the Crown's Nest Pass that is well on the way to becoming well known throughout the whole of Alberta through its annual horticultural and industrial show. Think of it, ye Calgary gardeners—over 1000 entries, and all good stuff. Two hundred exhibits in the ladies' classes to puzzle the judges by the wonderful quality of everything from buns to fancy needlework and lace; 120 entries in vegetables; nearly 50 in both beets and carrots, and a score in celery. That looks like going some. A dozen entries in dahlias, and the winning exhibit beating anything shown here by a number of miles."

How do they do it? Well, from what I could see, it is all the outcome of enthusiastic co-operation from the mine owners, managers, officials, down to the humblest employee of the company, who are responsible for this town in the mountains. Who adjudicated knows full well, as the task of placing winners was a big one. And just let me say here, I never heard a kick. They are a lot of good sports down Bellevue way. They are after a bigger building for future shows, as the workers' hall and school combined cannot accommodate half the staff, those miners can produce from gardens, not to mention the ladies with their exhibits. And if Bellevue says a new hall is to be, it will be.

Taken altogether, I think I will have to hand it out to the Bellevue folks, that they put on the best show I have seen this year. I would recommend my readers who, after the stress of local exhibiting next year, feel like a day off, to take in Bellevue for a change and enjoy the surprising quality of their show—the sports and dancing and the genial camaraderie of the Bellevueites, and the bracing breezes that come from that hoary giant, Crows' Nest Mountain, Crows' Nest Lake, and view that most wonderful natural phenomenon, the big Frank Slide. This alone is a sight worth crossing the continent to see. In thanking everyone for their kindness, I will just add that when Bellevue holds its next Labor Day show and sports, may I, like the author of John Gilpin, be there to see—Bellevue correspondent to Lethbridge Herald.

Home-Taught Fears

What has been described by one writer as "far and away the most conclusive tests of character ever made, since Adam and Eve reared Cain and Abel and made a moral success of one boy and a moral failure of the other," were the elaborate studies recently undertaken by two professors of Columbia and Yale Universities. These scientists tested the character attitudes of over 10,000 school children from eight to sixteen years old, under "normal" school and home conditions. The children did not even know they were being scientifically studied. The net result of these intricate and reliable tests was to show that among agencies in having the greatest influence in building human character, the "home" outweighed the school, the church, the Sunday School, the movies and sports all combined.

This is a fact number one for parents to consider. The second in importance is where and how home influence and training makes or mars the child life within its walls. There are three phases of home life out of which are developed the emotional patterns or habits which will make boys and girls into self-reliant men and women, able to meet an imperfect world with high ideals of their own. These phases are, first, the attitude between husband and wife; second, the attitude of sisters and brothers toward each other; and third, the attitude of parents toward children.

Let us take a look at the way in which these home attitudes foster the one emotional attitude which affects our lives more than any other and extends as a sort of background through nearly all the others. This is self-confidence as opposed to fear—not fear of some special thing but a rather generalized fear of life itself.

Vast numbers of people who will face death on a moment's notice, who go through all sorts of real dangers without a quaver, have yet a sort of underlying fear of life possibilities that seldom leaves them. It is easy to fall into these generalized fears, and there are thousands of ways in which parents actually teach this state of mind to their children. One of the amazing discoveries made by doctors during the examinations in the World War was that so many perfectly healthy young men had all their lives been convinced that they had heart or kidney trouble or some similar malady and had feared to undertake arduous occupation for that reason. In nearly all cases their fears had been started by hearing symptoms discussed at home.

What is "fear" anyhow? Well, the scientists have done a world of work in the last thirty years on fear, and they find there are three distinct kinds. The first is natural or biological fear—the kind that preserves you from natural perils; the second, intelligent or constructive fear—the kind you get from sound, healthy education; and the third is pathological fear—destructive fear that comes from a wrong view of life, from wrong comparisons of yourself with other people, from wrong attitudes toward your job, and from telling yourself constantly you are not as important as others. As a rule there are just three people who tell you you are no good—your parents, your brothers or sisters, and yourself. And nine times out of ten you have begun to tell yourself you are no good because your mother, or father, or brother, or sister, in some way first destroyed your self-confidence.

For example, you hear many people assert they are naturally afraid of lightning, or burglars, or something of the sort. This is not true, because there are but two things that people are "naturally" afraid of. The first is a loud noise, and the second is the sense of falling. Dr. John Watson and his students have tried in hundreds of ways to frighten babies, but these are the only two ways in which they have succeeded.

Many mothers say, "My child has always been afraid of the dark." Oh, no, the mother taught it to be afraid. She put the babe to bed and went out and slammed the door, or he had heart or kidney trouble or some similar malady and the floor. Or, when it got a little older, the mother talked about being afraid of the dark herself, or told the child something dreadful that was likely to happen in the dark.

And it is just this way that children are taught to be afraid of life. Parents need to be taught the many ways in which they actually teach their children to be afraid of life by shielding them from responsibility. They are missing the greatest educational opportunity this world offers when they fail to put as much responsibility on the child as he can reasonably carry just as early in life as is possible. In this way you build up habits of success instead of habits of failure, courage habits instead of habits of fearing life and dodging its responsibilities.

There is nothing contrary to the duty of teaching the children the second kind of fear—intelligent fear—which is merely teaching them good judgment in avoiding dangers and destructive habits. This kind of fear is merely the negative side of character building and should be carried through to the constructive or positive side—that is, to the development of ideals and ambitions, of goals to be reached and battles to be won. The greatest duty of parents is to fill their children's minds with the belief that they can meet these duties and battles with satisfaction and success.

When intelligent fear is carried to the point of exaggeration it becomes the third fear—disorderly or pathological fear. The way out is to develop logical judgment of our own powers and those of our friends. When this is done honestly, when you think "in detail" of your own powers of body and mind and compare them with these same qualities in others, you will be astonished to find that you are superior in most respects to the very people who have taught yourself to be afraid of life.

But the great lesson for parents is that all these attitudes, both destructive and constructive, are chiefly developed in the home. And since Nature has given us but two inborn fears, and all others are learned, and since the home is the greatest agency in the world for teaching all our emotional attitudes, the very large question every family should answer is, "Are we as parents or brothers and sisters teaching ourselves and one another to meet life with fear, self-deprecation and doubt, or are we trying to be a daily inspiration to one another to meet life with the self-confidence and good cheer that calls out each one's best energies?"

The answer to these questions will have more effect on the happiness and success of every member of the family than anything that ever has been or ever will be taught in school or college.

Could Not Check the Summer Complaint

A Few Doses Did It

Mrs. R. Coulter, 918-11th Ave. E., Calgary, Alta., writes: "Last summer my youngest son was very sick with summer complaint. He was vomiting, and he got so thin I became very much worried. I could not get the discharges checked, so I went to the drugstore and bought a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and told me it would stop the trouble if anything would. After I had given the boy the first few doses I noticed the discharges were being checked, and he was not long before he was well again."

Evolution Of Peace

Nations Of The World Should Place Armed Forces Under Control Of League

A proposal that the nations of the world place their armed forces under the control of the League of Nations and a prediction that France would lead the way at the 1933 disarmament conference was made by Joseph Paul Boncour, foreign affairs chairman of the Chamber of Deputies, in a statement to the Associated Press.

"I mean that the council of the League of Nations when face to face with a case of proved war of aggression should be empowered under article 15 of the League Covenant to make use of them to settle a war crisis."

"Are other nations, like us, ready? Are they willing to put their permanent air, naval and land forces under the control of and at the disposition of the League of Nations? By this gesture the problem of parity might be solved."

He said that French circles yearned for perpetual peace and are growing apprehensive over next year's disarmament conference.

The statement said that in his opinion the disarmament conference would be the gravest event since the signing of the war treaties and a decisive step in the evolution of peace.

"Upon its success or failure depends the future of peace," he said. "I mean that the failure of the disarmament conference would be the signal for the re-armament of powers which under the present treaties are subjected to special limitations."

Inasmuch as M. Paul-Boncour is acknowledged as France's greatest authority on disarmament and is certain to be one of France's chief delegates to the disarmament conference in Geneva next February, his statement was considered to be of such far-reaching importance that it will give an entirely new angle to the struggle for reduction and limitation of armaments.

Air Mail Service

To Kluavik Necessary

Paying Its Way and Must Not Be Abandoned

Whatever happens to the prairie mail that to Kluavik is necessary must be abandoned. It was stated by Mr. Veniot, former postmaster-general that under the old system of delivering mail by dog teams in winter and by boat in summer, it took many weeks to reach its destination and even then the service cost the department $41,000 a year. Contracts for delivery by airplane called for only some $6,000 additional and instead of giving people of the far north mail once or twice a year they have been receiving several deliveries each winter. It was further stated that the northern air service under a two-cent rate today is paying its way and has a surplus. These facts should remove the Alaskan service from any general plan of cutting out the air mails.—Edmonton Journal.

Saskatoon Fair

Operating Loss This Year Shows Decrease Over That Of 1930

Operating loss on the 1931 Saskatoon Exhibition, including all fixed charges against the exhibition board, amounted to $18,848.43. It was announced at a meeting of the finance committee. This shows a substantial decrease over the exhibition loss in 1930.

Total attendance was 66,853, with 39,748 attending the grandstand. In view of conditions this operating loss was considered very reasonable and the exhibition management has operated about $5,000 under the amount budgeted in 1930.

ACIDITY FOR 10 YEARS

Before He Found The Remedy

Many people endure suffering unnecessarily. This man did. It has been known ten years ago what he knows to-day, he would have been spared a great deal of suffering.

"I feel I must write a few lines in appreciation of your Kruschen Salts. I have suffered for 10 years from chronic acidity of the stomach. I tried nearly everything, until I was advised by a friend to try Kruschen, which I have taken for the last two months, and I am pleased to say I have had no return of the acidity."

W. B. Kruschen Salts swiftly neutralizes acid, takes all the torment out of it, and gently expels it from the system. And by stimulating your organs of elimination to perfect regular action, Kruschen will prevent this harmful acid from ever accumulating again. After that you'll experience no more misery after meals. Kruschen will keep your digestive blood well sent coursing to every part of your body. You'll feel wonderfully energetic and well. As healthy and hearty as it is humanly possible to feel.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

ORANGE CHEESE SALAD

4 oranges.
2 packages of Philadelphia cream cheese.
1 cup toasted coconut.

1 head lettuce (inside leaves).
Pare oranges and separate sections. Mash cream cheese. Make into balls and roll in toasted coconut. On lettuce covered salad plates, place orange sections with 2 or 3 cheese balls. Top with a spoon of mayonnaise.

TOMATO-RAISIN CONSERVE

2 quarts fresh, ripe tomatoes.
4 sour apples, peeled, cored and cubed.
2 lemons, cubed.
2 pounds sugar.
6 sticks cinnamon.
1 small piece of mace.

(The spices in cheese cloth bag.)
Boil all ingredients, except sugar, until a thick mass is obtained. Add sugar slowly and boil about 15 minutes or until jelly stage is reached, which is when the mass sheets from the side of the spoon. One cup of nut meats may be added to this just before removing from the fire. Pour into glasses and seal.

Royal Winter Fair

Small Exhibit Of Saskatchewan Livestock Will Go To Toronto

A small but select exhibit of Saskatchewan livestock will go forward to the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, this fall through the co-operation of Federal and Provincial Governments. Decision to this effect, which revokes the previous decision that no exhibit should be forwarded in view of economic conditions, was reached following a conference between the executive of the Saskatchewan Livestock Board and Hon. Robert Weir, Federal Minister of Agriculture.

In agreeing to terms by which freight charges could be met, Mr. Weir urged that an exhibit of "none but the best should go forward," and offered on behalf of the Federal Government to pay 75 per cent. of the freight costs provided the Provincial Government contributed the remaining 25 per cent.

The assent of the Provincial Government to this scheme was given by Hon. W. C. Macle, Provincial Minister of Agriculture. Feed allowances on a reduced scale will be made by the Provincial Government as in the past, and the exhibit will be managed by the provincial livestock board.

The Provincial Government will also contribute 50 per cent. of the prize money, but honoraria will not be granted, as in former years.

Recommendations of livestock will be made by selection committees as in previous years, but stock not exhibited previously will not receive much attention.

Nations Will Uphold Britain

Prestige Must Be Safeguarded Or World Will Suffer

Engrossed as we are in our own troubles in Canada, we may not realize how very serious is the situation in the Mother Country. Yet the outward signs, visible to the world, are sufficiently alarming. We may be sure, when a Labour Prime Minister must not only interrupt his own holiday but feels it necessary to call into council the leaders of the Conservative and Liberal Parties to devise emergency measures to meet an imminent crisis, that the crisis is grave and, indeed, almost desperate.

British stability is a world asset. If anything serious were to happen to the age-long leader of world finance and trade, the whole world would suffer. It is inconceivable under such circumstances that the prestige of Britain, but they will not be so guarded by all the power which the leaders of finance in other nations can bring to bear. Some of them may not relish the opportunity to rush to the rescue of the Colossus of other nations, but they will rush. They dare not permit anything really dangerous to occur.—Montreal Star.

Scientists Sample

Arctic Sea Bottom

Interesting Report Received By Radiogram From Submarine "Nautilus"

A copyrighted radiogram from the submarine "Nautilus" to the New York American tells how scientists aboard the vessel have sampled the bottom of the Arctic Ocean 5,220 feet from the surface.

The result, says the radiogram from Capt. Sir Robert Wills, commander of the North Pole submarine expedition, was a column of Arctic mud 17 inches long and one inch thick. It was "brown from the surface for 15 inches and then pale blue, representing the deposits in polar waters of hundreds of thousands or perhaps hundreds of millions of years."

Something To Crow About

Alberta Producing Half Of Western Wheat Crop This Year

Central and northern Alberta today has the best wheat crop prospect in three years.

For the first time in history, one-half of the total wheat crop of the West will be produced in Alberta.

Alberta will have the lowest cost of planting and harvesting in 20 years.

The five-cent government bonus on wheat will mean over $6,000,000 to Alberta farmers this fall.

Cost Of Launching A Novel

Publishers Fees Usually Average Around Seven Thousand Dollars

It costs about 7,000 dollars to launch an ordinary novel. Sometimes it can be done for less, but that figure about averages publication costs, including advance publicity and advertising.

Only time, book publishers are not taking really big chances of losing money is on the less spectacular books such as biographies and educational tomes. There's always enough advance sale and orders from libraries to cover costs on books of that type.

Ontario Mines

Output Shows Decrease In First Six Months Of Year

The value of Ontario mineral output for the first six months of 1931 shows a 12.04 per cent. decrease over the same period last year, the half-yearly report of the Provincial Department of Mines shows. At the same time, gold production of the province reached the record total of $2,608,136.

Production to the end of June this year amounted to $50,997,740, as compared with $58,236,562 for the corresponding period of 1930.

SAYS SUPREME COURT DECISIONS SHOULD BE FINAL

Murray Bay, Que.—Too many bankruptcies are entered into lightly in Canada and without proper regard for the interest of creditors, the council of the Canadian Bar Association reported at the three-day convention which, opened in the Manoir Richelieu here.

Sir Francois Lemieux, 80-year-old chief justice of the province of Quebec, presided over a luncheon and paid tribute in his address to the work of the late Sir James Aikens, former lieutenant-governor of Manitoba, for the association and the country generally. All constitutional disputes arising within the Dominion should go to the supreme court of Canada, in the view of Louis St. Laurent, K.C., retiring president of the Canadian Bar Association, who delivered the presidential address at the opening of the association's convention.

If the decisions of the supreme court in these cases were allowed to become a final decision they should be looked upon as a binding authority both on that court and, on the private council in all future similar cases.

"That," Mr. St. Laurent declared in uttering an opinion to which he committed no one but himself, "would be a first step in making our supreme court really supreme. Can confident that with such a ruling many constitutional questions would be finally determined here, whilst there would remain open to the Dominion and the provinces as autonomous and independent governments in their respective spheres, a further tribunal quite as satisfactory and as expeditious and in every way as convenient, as one which might be set up under the resolution of the imperial conference of 1930."

Mr. St. Laurent's consideration arose out of his treatment of the proposed statute of Westminster.

"There is without doubt, a growing feeling in Canada that at least in ordinary disputes between private parties, final decision should be arrived at in our own courts," the president continued.

British Films

May Erect Chain Of Theatres In Canada To Show Pictures

Toronto, Ont.—British motion picture producers would find their way into the Canadian market regardless of the attitude of the Canadian motion picture industry, declared F. W. Field, of Montreal, British Trade Commissioner in Canada, addressing a meeting under the auspices of the National Council of Women at the Canadian National Theatre here.

If Canadian theatre owners were not more friendly to British pictures he predicted the erection of a chain of British theatres to show films from that country here.

E.P. Ranch Takes Prizes

Scored Highly At Victoria, B.C., in Shorthorn Cattle Class

Victoria, B.C.—H.R.H. the Prince of Wales scored highly in prize awards at the Victoria Exhibition. Entered only in the Shorthorn cattle class the "E.P." ranch, of High River, Alberta, captured the grand champion, penultimate and reserve, senior champion cow, junior champion cow, nine additional firsts, one second, three thirds and a fourth to make almost a clear sweep of the class in which the cattle competed.

Siamese Rulers On Way Home Banff, Alberta.—Their Majesties Prince and Princess Sukhothai, King and Queen of Siam, who have spent nearly three weeks in the Canadian Rockies, have left in their special train for the Pacific Coast. The King and Queen will sail for home on the "Empress of Canada" on September 12, embarking at Victoria, B.C.

Requires Aid From Ottawa The Pas, Man.—Premier John Bracken told The Pas Board of Trade that the province is unable to meet the entire cost of the Making Highway, but that if The Pas can persuade the Federal Government to guarantee 50 per cent. of the cost of the road, work on it would start the next day.

Ontario Highway Section Toronto, Ont.—Premier Henry announced that work on the two sections of the Trans-Canada Highway for Ontario's unemployed, will start October 1. While September 1 was previously given as the starting date, definite plans for operation of work camps are still being formulated.

Duty On Magazines

Customs Tariff Now In Effect Affecting American Publications

Ottawa, Ont.—Nearly 450 periodicals are contained in the partial list, issued by the Department of National Revenue here, of magazines upon which a customs tariff will be imposed as from the 1st of September.

The department makes it clear that the list is not complete, and that a further list will be issued "when the necessary information is furnished to the department by publishers of other periodical publications."

Three sections and two sub-sections of the customs tariff—148B to 148D inclusive—are applicable to all magazines imported into Canada from foreign countries, for such publications from Great Britain and other parts of the British Empire are not affected, nor is there any provision for the imposition of a duty on the periodical publications issued from trade treaty countries.

The list covers United States magazines exclusively. A number of those of the short-story type are boosted in price, by reason of the new tax, to a cost that may cause their total disappearance from Canadian stands. These came within the classification of "periodicals or newspapers consisting largely of fiction, etc."

Scientific publications, religious magazines and others devoted to comment on public and cultural affairs, and to travel and exploration, which carry articles of an educational character are, listed free.

General Disarmament

Legion Believes War Should Have No Place In Civilized World

Niagara Falls, Ont.—Reaffirming their belief that war has no place in a civilized world and approving the campaign of the League of Nations Society in Canada to advance the cause of general disarmament, delegates to the Canadian Legion Convention in Vancouver passed a resolution to that effect. The resolution was qualified, however, as follows: "This resolution of approval is not, however, to be taken as approving of disarmament by individual nations, and expressing the opinion that it is the duty of Canada to maintain adequate defence forces."

Second Ship To Churchill

Will Pick Up 7,000 Tons Of Grain For Shipment To Europe

Montreal, Que.—The stout steamer "Warkworth" sailed from Montreal, September 1, for Churchill, Canada's new grain port on Hudson Bay, to pick up 7,000 tons of grain as an experimental shipment to Europe. The S.S. Farnworth sailed August 28, from Newcastle-on-Tyne.

The "Farnworth" is expected to reach the port about September 12, with the "Warkworth" due about two days later. With but little ice in Hudson Bay, conditions appear to be favourable for the experiment, according to local shipping men.

Governor-General Presided

Opened Convention Of Canadian Bar Association At Murray Bay

Montreal, Que.—His Excellency, Lord Beasborough, Governor-General of Canada, left Montreal on board the "Empress of Canada" for Murray Bay, where he presided at the opening of the Canadian Bar Association Convention. His Excellency was accompanied by his son, Viscount Duncannon, and A. F. Lascelles.

As the vice-regal party boarded the steamer, the Governor-General's flag was unfurled at the masthead, the S.S. Tadoussac thus having the honour of being the first steamer in the lower St. Lawrence to fly the emblem of the King's representative.

Costs Can Be Reduced

Flinding Of Conference On Production Expenses Of Wheat

Calgary, Alberta.—Wheat producers attending conference here with a view to cutting down production expenses closed their session with the decision that costs can be reduced, and wheat will continue to be for many years to come the basic western crop.

The conference formed the second part of a two-day program, the first being field trials and tests of farm machinery at the Midnapore Ranch of Senator Patrick Burns.

Welfare Of Workers

Moscow, Russia.—Addressing the general conference of Moscow engineers, V. Kuybyshev, chairman of the state planning commission, declared that Soviet Russia, having virtually achieved its aim of industrializing the nation in less than five years, intends in 1932 to devote more attention to the welfare of workers and peasants.

Wheat Shipment At Churchill

Workmen Cheer When First Train Load Of Wheat Arrives

Churchill.—The dream of 50 years of western Canada was realized when 24 cars of No. 1 Northern wheat arrived at this bay port en route to European markets. This is the first wheat ever to come over the Hudson Bay rails into the 2,500,000 bushel wheat elevator.

All the workmen for Carter-Halls-Aldinger, and the Department of Railway and canals were present when the epoch-making event took place. Eskimos and Indians, only dimly realizing the significance of the event, were present in large numbers. When it was definitely learned the wheat was the primary part of the cargo, cheers arose from the groups of workmen and the engineer blew loud blasts in answer.

SUPPORT ASKED BY BALDWIN FOR THE NEW CABINET

London, England.—Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the Conservative Party and president of the council in the new three-party government, appealed to every Conservative member of parliament to support the emergency cabinet's financial legislation.

"The forthcoming session is to be one of the most critical in our history," Mr. Baldwin said in a letter sent to all of his parliamentary followers. "I beg of you at whatever personal sacrifice, to be present on the appointed days and to give your consistent support to the government to enable them to pass the necessary financial legislation."

"Failure to do your duty throughout this crisis would be dishonourable to us as a party and disastrous to the national interests."

The Conservative leader's appeal was issued as the cabinet continued its battle to balance the budget. After a three-hour session it was announced, the ministers had completed their labors in connection with the economy section of the national plan and their forthcoming deliberations would be mainly concerned with the financial question—that is, new taxes.

Stress was placed on the great progress made, and officials generally were optimistic that the new government has excellent prospects of "pulling England out of the hole" without visiting unusual sacrifices on the already over-burdened population.

It was believed a vote of confidence would be sought almost at the opening of the House or at least after two days' debate on certain resolutions which must precede the budgetary proposals of the Government.

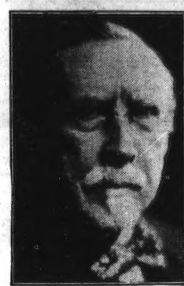

The Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen adopted a resolution repudiating the new government and urging the adoption of a definite Socialist policy by the Trade Union Congress and the Labor Party.

"With a view of changing the present credit system of the nation and combatting the power of capitalist financiers, both national and international."

Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, secretary for the Dominions, who resigned from his official position with the National Union of Railwaymen before being dismissed, was angry when he heard that the organization had voted against giving him his pension.

"It's cruel, harsh and vindictive," he said. "It's not the railwaymen I knew."

Market For Wheat In China

Our Surplus Wheat Would Save Thousands Of Chinese Now Starving

Montreal, Que.—Canada's surplus wheat in grain through the Dominion would save the lives of thousands of Chinese now starving in the areas flooded by the Yangtze River and possibly be the means of furnishing a future outlet for Canadian wheat that would prove of great benefit to this country. Wong Han, prominent member of the Montreal Chinese colony, stated here.

He thought that there was an excellent market for the hard wheat of Canada in his homeland. "The Chinese," he explained, "will never eat bread to any great extent, as it is a food absolutely foreign to them and would require cooking equipment not found in the average Chinese home. Canadian wheat, however," he went on, "could be used freely in the preparation of Chinese dishes, such as the making of dumplings and noodles, and its use for this purpose would take millions of bushels of Canadian wheat yearly."

Economic Situation

Solution Of Difficulty May Lay In Shortening Of Working Hours

Saskatoon, Sask.—Solution of the present situation lay perhaps in shortening of working hours, while maintaining the present standard of living, stated Hon. Howard McConnell, Provincial Treasurer, when speaking to a local service club. Mr. McConnell dealt with the economic situation generally and stressed the need of great economy in the province. He predicted that revenue this year would fall far short of requirements, laying the blame for this largely at the door of the agricultural situation in the south of this province.

Soporific Books

Dean Inge Would Have Doctors Prescribe Books For Insomniacs

London, England.—Doctors should prescribe books to certain authors as a cure for insomnia, suggested Dean Inge, of St. Paul's, at the Library Association Convention here.

"I have often found my wife sleeping peacefully with one of my books upside down on her knee," Dean Inge said.

GRAND CHAMPION

Holding the record maintained in all showings at the Canadian Pacific Exhibition, Vancouver, the Strathmore herd from the Canadian Pacific Railway's supply farm in Alberta proved unbeatable in the bull classes. "Gano Paul Bruce," awarded senior and grand championships for bulls at Vancouver, added another red ribbon to his decorations from this season's major exhibitions. "Gano Paul Bruce" holds three firsts and the grand championship from Calgary, Saskatoon and Regina, and took second place at Edmonton. His record in 1930 made him first prize aged bull in Holstein classes at Vancouver, Victoria, Spokane International, Washington State Fair, Yakima; Interstate Fair, Puyallup, and Pacific International, Portland. Also in 1930 he claimed the grand championship at Spokane, Yakima and Puyallup. He goes now, with other Strathmore Farm exhibits to the north Pacific Coast fairs.

Young Wins Swim Marathon

Toronto Swimmer Defeats Field Of 180 Contestants

Toronto.—George Young, Toronto, who for years has sought vindication, found it today. Meeting Lake Ontario when the lake was at its cruellest, Young defied it. He smashed through cold, cold waters for 15 miles to win the world's professional swimming championship, $10,000 in cash and vindication in the eyes of Toronto and the world.

Young, a citizen, in the last grueling drive, he crossed the finish line shortly after 7 o'clock, swam perhaps 20 feet farther, then collapsed. The lake had its way in the end—but not before George had proved beyond all doubt his superiority over a field of 180 contestants who started one of the cruellest, most brutal grinds in the history of swimming.

Young was leading by nearly a mile at the finish line, and all talk of his being a "front runner," the boy who quit under pressure, was set at rest by his performance. Gone, too, are the cutting and untrue remarks that the Catalina victory of 1927 was a "fluke."

The prize winners were: George Young, Toronto, first, $10,000.

Bill Goll, New York, second, $2,500.

Warren Anderson, Sydney, N.S., third, $1,000.

And these were the only swimmers to finish the ordeal.

LEGION OPPOSED TO LEGALIZING SWEEPSTAKES

Niagara Falls, Ont.—The Dominion convention of the Canadian Legion expressed its opposition to the idea of legalizing sweepstakes in Canada. The convention adopted, with only one dissenting voice, a report of a special committee, advocating that no steps be taken for a change of the law regarding sweepstakes. The committee urged that the Dominion command be instructed to oppose, now and in the future, any attempts to alter this law.

It was also recommended that the proffered gift of $57,023 from the Army and Navy Veterans' Association of Canada, which, it was claimed, was wholly derived from sweepstakes, be returned forthwith to the donors. The claim of an Alberta delegate that many branches in that province would be in open rebellion if the report was adopted was not heeded by other delegates. The Alberta man claimed if sweepstakes were legalized the legion ought to participate in them. Rev. E. R. Adye of Whitley, Ont., declared if the branches were ready to rebel because they could not have such a way of raising money, the legion would be better off without them.

Imperial war veterans were given consideration in a series of resolutions presented to the convention and given the approval of the gathering. One resolution urged that Imperial ex-service men resident in Canada for three years or more, be entitled to the benefits of the War Veterans' Allowance act and all social legislation in the way of relief to war veterans. It was also asked that men who had been transferred to the Imperial Army from the Canadian Army be given the same consideration as Canadian ex-service men.

Appointment by the British Government in each province of the Dominion, of a representative of the British Ministry of Pensions was urged by the convention.

A comprehensive and detailed report, reviewing the activities of the Canadian Legion since the last Dominion Convention at Regina, in November, 1929, was presented Wednesday morning, September 2, by Major J. R. Bowler, Dominion general secretary.

During the year from July, 1930, to July, 1931, the report shows 1,269 major pensions were recorded, while some 3,000 cases other than pension were recorded.

The report reviewed its activities in securing new pensions legislation, and the War Veterans' Allowance Act. Figures quoted in the report show that up to August 17, 1931, 7,654 applications for war veterans' allowance had been received, and that of these, 3,195 had been approved, and 3,700 declined, while 393 applicants were considered ineligible and 48 were withdrawn.

Vancouver was selected for the next annual convention of the Canadian Legion British Empire Service League, at the concluding session of the convention here. The Pacific Coast defeated Ottawa and Port Arthur for the honour. The date of the 1932 gathering has not yet been decided.

HARVESTING HAS PROGRESSED SATISFACTORILY

Ottawa, Ont.—Harvesting of seasonal crops has progressed satisfactorily in all parts of Canada during the last two weeks, says the Dominion Bureau of Statistics in its crop report.

On conditions in the prairie provinces, the report points out that harvesting of wheat has progressed satisfactorily. Operations were delayed somewhat by rainfall. Although delaying harvesting a few days the rains were however, very beneficial in improving the feed and pasture situation, especially in Manitoba.

Heavy damage has been done by hail at several points in Saskatchewan and Alberta, but no new developments in the root situation were reported.

In Ontario the weather has been good for harvesting and yields are generally satisfactory. Favourable weather in British Columbia has accelerated harvesting. The quality of fruits and vegetables is generally good. Harvesting of cereals is practically completed in Quebec.

The detailed review of crop conditions follows, in part: During the past week Manitoba received substantial rains which have delayed harvesting operations for the time being. The rainfall, however, was urgently needed to improve the pasture and feed situation. Approximately 90 per cent. of the wheat crop is out and some threshing is completed in southern districts. A light frost was reported but only slight damage is evident.

"In Saskatchewan approximately 70 per cent. of the wheat crop is now out and threshing is under way in some areas. Feed crops and pastures have been benefited from the rains received, and late crops will progress if not damaged by frost."

"Cutting in Alberta is well advanced in southern districts and is now general in central and northern areas. Rains have delayed operations in the central and northern areas, where crops are heavy, and damage may result if further rains are received before harvesting is completed."

"Cutting of grains is practically completed on Vancouver Island and southern mainland, while harvesting is becoming general in northern areas. Wealthy apples, peaches, pears, strawberries and vegetables are being shipped in volume and the quality of these crops is generally good."

"The following hail reports were received from correspondents in Saskatchewan and Alberta: 'Widespread damage done to crops as a result of storm of August 26 at Estevan, Arcola, Carlyle, Alda, Wauchope, Redvers and Melfield in Saskatchewan.'"

"Hail claims received from Didsbury, Crossfield, Michicli, Delia, Hanna, Richdale, heavy damage at most points in Alberta."

An Epochal Event

Minister Of Railways May Witness First Grain Shipment From Churchill

Ottawa, Ont.—Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, may witness the first grain shipments to move from Churchill over the Hudson Bay route.

Arrangements have been rushed to permit two cargoes of wheat to be shipped about September 15 for Great Britain. Dr. Manion has not decided definitely whether he would be pre-officials of the Department of Railways and Canals will make the journey.

New Freight Tariff Protested

Calgary Board Of Trade Draws Attention To New Ruling

Calgary, Alberta.—Protest to the Board of Railway Commissioners at Ottawa over the filing of a new tariff by railway companies which would make shippers pay freight on dead or crippled animals, was made by the Board of Trade here.

The board claimed that a double charge could be made under the new tariff, but railway officials replied that the tariff had been in effect in Ontario for a year and no complaints raised.

Christening Ceremony

Montreal, Ont.—Christening of the infant son of His Excellencies the Governor-General of Canada and Lady Beasborough will take place in St. Bartholomew's Church, Ottawa, on September 25. Official announcement to this effect was made at "Havenscrag," temporary residence of His Excellencies here.

DRUMHELLER ARMY AND NAVY VETS ASK ACTION

A call to all coal operators of the Drumheller Valley to make careful selection of men whom they employ and to discharge all who are known to participate in Communist activities has been sent out in the form of a resolution by the Red Deer Valley Unit No. 90 of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada.

According to the secretary of the organization, favorable responses have been received from several operators, but there are still a number to hear from. The resolution which was unanimously passed at a recent meeting of the Veterans, is directed to all operators, who, it is stated, are the largest employers of labor where men of disloyal and unpatriotic principles are employed. In addition to coal operators, copies of the resolution have been sent to the city council, the Canadian Legion and the District office of the U.M.W. of A. for endorsement.

The resolution reads: "Whereas the Red Deer Valley Unit No. 90, of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, are gravely concerned and alarmed at the conditions which prevail in the Drumheller Valley coal field, and in particular with the increase of the activities of the Communist element, which are disturbing to the good and well-being of the community and whose principles do not bear true allegiance to His Majesty, King George V.

"And whereas the coal operators in the said district, being the largest employers of labor where men of disloyal and unpatriotic principles are employed;

"Therefore be it resolved: "That the coal operators in the Drumheller Valley coal field be called upon to show their allegiance and patriotism in their respective mine that they will henceforth undertake to employ men whose principles are for:

"(a) The benefit and well-being of the community.

"(b) The making of this Canada of ours a better country, and

"(c) The observance and maintenance of true allegiance to His Majesty, King George V. and that they will forthwith discharge from their employment those men who belong to and who have taken part in the Communist propaganda, and who are a serious menace to the country."

—Drumheller Mail.

ESSENTIALS OF
UNITED CANADA OUT-

LINED BY SEIBERT

A true appreciation of our native land, confidence in ourselves and mutual confidence in each other and confidence in our national assets are the first essentials for a united Canada in the opinion of Fred V. Seibert, superintendent, Natural Resources Department, Canadian National Railways, who addressed the Winnipeg Rotary Club last week.

Canadian development and progress during the last thirty years, Mr. Seibert declared, came from the opening of western lands, with the resultant tremendous wheat production, the rise of the pulp and paper industry, the development of water power, the rapid growth and spread of the mining industry, the substantial growth of manufacturing and the remarkable expansion of tourist traffic.

A continuance of these features, reinforced by the commercial arrival of new resources previously unnoticed or neglected, on a greater scale has ever, thus assuring a great future for Canada, was predicted by Mr. Seibert.

SIDERODROMOPHILIE
ATTACKS CANADIANS

Although the victims do not know it by that name and would be terrified if they did, it is true, nevertheless, that an epidemic of siderodromophilie has broken out simultaneously in all parts of Canada. But it is not so bad as it sounds. Siderodromophilie is a newly coined French word which means an excessive love of railroad riding. The railways report that in spite of slack times and motor cars, there is a serious outbreak of siderodromophilie in Canada, although they say that "excessive" is perhaps putting it too strongly. The depression has much to do with Canadians refraining from European trips and staying at home to see their own country. The result is travel to the Pacific Coast and the seaboard in the Maritimes and visits to Jasper, Algonquin and other national parks and to such summer resorts as Minnik.

"Automotrice" is another railway word the French has coined lately. An automobile, which sounds like a lady automobile, is one of those motor cars which run on rails.

TO CONSERVE FISH

A petition is being circulated in Macleod, requesting the provincial government to take steps to compel all irrigation systems of the province to observe the existing regulations by providing screens and fish ladders at the intake of the irrigation canals.

It is stated that very few of the irrigation systems observe this rule, and that as a result many game fish go to their destruction through entering the irrigation canals, and are distributed over the farms, or, as is recently stated to be the case, left to die in the canals when the water is let off.

In view of the fact that the government spends considerable money for the propagation of game fish, and large annual license fees to fishermen, the petitioners claim that immediate steps should be taken to prevent this loss.

WHEAT REACHES CHURCHILL HALF CENTURY DREAM OF WESTERN CANADA REALIZED

Western Canada's dream of fifty years was realized September 1st, when 24 cars of wheat arrived at Churchill port, enroute to European markets. This is the first wheat ever to come over the Hudson Bay Railway into the new and most modern 2,500,000 bushel elevator. Wheat originating along the lines of the Canadian National Railways in northwest Saskatchewan has the distinction of forming the first shipment, and to the Canadian Wheat Pool goes the honor of shipping the grain.

Eskimos and Indians at the bay port, only dimly realizing the epoch-making event, were present in large numbers.

IF AN EGG COULD TALK

If an egg could talk it might say:

I am an egg.

I am the embodiment of life and health.

I am nature's original package of vim, vigor and vitality.

I am a perfect little mine of marvellous minerals.

I am the nearest approach to a balanced ration in the original container.

I am boiled, baked, fried, frizzled, poached, pickled, scrambled, stirred and omeleted.

I am the inevitable partner of fried ham, and inseparable companion of my brother, bacon.

I am the blessing of breakfast; the heaven of luncheon; and the distinction of dinner.

I am the circulating currency of the country; the floating finance of the farmer; the answer to the ailments of the agriculturist.—Dept. of Agriculture, Ottawa.

PRIZE SINGERS OF BIRD WORLD MAY BROADCAST

Radio listeners will be in for an unusual treat if plans of the Calgary Roller Canary Club come to fruition this winter. It is planned to have winners in the forthcoming singing contest for roller canaries broadcast over CKLC, the use of which station has been promised by the Alberta Pacific Grain Company, Limited.

The contest, it was decided at a meeting of the club, would be held the first week in December in the Palliser hotel. A trophy has been donated by the Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, the members were informed.

MERCHANT PLEADS GUILTY

Charged under section 67, subsections 1, 2 and 3 of the School Act, that he, while a school trustee of the consolidated school, Foremost, did unlawfully receive moneys for goods supplied by him to the school, to which he pleaded guilty, D. N. Phillips, hardware merchant, was at Etzikom fined $5.00 and costs. The information was laid by A. B. Bentley, another hardware merchant of the town. During the past year natural gas was installed in the school, with the work done by Phillips, who supplied the hardware necessary.

RUSSIA KEEPS CLOSE
WATCH ON REDS HERE

REGINA, Sept. 8.—Soviet headquarters in Russia is keeping close tabs on Communist activities in Canada, according to Dr. W. A. Lincoln, of Calgary, who conveyed a message to members of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce here Monday.

Dr. Lincoln, who recently returned from a two months' trip to Russia, told of speaking to Soviet officials and examining charts revealing the stronger Communist centres throughout the world.

A map of Canada was dotted with red pins, these were especially concentrated on Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and other Canadian cities.

WHO'S WHO

(By Glee)

E. L. Gray

BORN in Ontario, educated in the schools of Saskatchewan and at the Ontario Agricultural College, now field crops commissioner in the Alberta Department of Agriculture, E. L. Gray gives to his work as chairman of the Alberta Committee of the World's Grain Exhibition and Conference a wealth of agricultural experience.

Mr. Gray's home is in Grey County, Ontario, where he was born in 1896. In 1902 he moved to Saskatchewan with his parents and received his early education in the public and high schools of that province.

In 1923 he graduated from the Ontario Agriculture College, after which he taught school in Saskatchewan for three years. He served overseas during the war with the C.E.F. and for a time acted as a county agricultural agent in Ontario. His agricultural experience was greatly increased during the period he occupied the position of farm manager and instructor in animal husbandry at the School of Agriculture, Claresholm, Alberta, and for nearly three years as district agriculturalist at Hanna, Alberta.

A campaign designed to break down what might be termed the "dining car resistance" of train travellers of moderate means has just been launched by the Canadian National Railways. Printed slips, containing sample menus for the day, are now being distributed through day coaches and sleepers in order that travellers may see for themselves that they need neither merchant prices nor even eastern potentates to enjoy the delights of a train meal.

Two resolutions, protesting against the arrest of nine Communists by the city of Drumheller, with demands for their release and further demands for punitive action against members of the Canadian Legion, who "brutally" attacked the demonstrating workers, were received by the Drumheller council last week, one from the Edmonton branch of the Canadian Labor Defence League, the other from the Court sitting.

Russian Workers' Club of Edmonton, Councillor Hamilton, in speaking to the veterans' resolution, announced that it had never been declared that it was illegal to be a Communist. "It doesn't lie within our province to persecute Communists and so long as they observe the laws of our country, they should be allowed to follow their own course," Councillor Hamilton remarked.

Mr. E. Moscovitch, of Lethbridge, has been retained as counsel to defend John O'Sullivan and eight others, participants in the anti-deportation demonstration staged by the Communists in the Drumheller district. The nine men are charged with being members of an unlawful assembly, contrary to Section 87 of the criminal Code of Canada. Moscovitch claimed, before evidence for the prosecution was taken, that the charge of unlawful assembly laid against his clients failed to disclose any offence known to criminal law, but the police produced evidence that the gang was armed with stones as missiles constituting offensive weapons, while the entire gang refused to obey the orders of police. The men were remanded for trial at the next Supreme Court sitting.

Summer and gleaming sands! The laughter of scampers, the thrill of the water, the sun-baked shores of the Atlantic breakers as the ocean swells to the shore of the Bay of Fundy! Here is holiday; health and happiness. All along the beautiful coast of Nova Scotia are countless watering places, whose names have become household words among lovers of the seaside. Excellent hotels are at the disposal of visitors and the shoreward scene is no less lovely than its marine companion. The Annapolis Valley needs no introduction to Canadians or to its countless American visitors. It has been richly called Canada's Devon, with its flourishing orchards and pasture lands and its countless picturesque lakes and haunts. A few hours' journey by palatial steamer from Saint John, N.B., Digby, with its Pines Hotel as the hub of activity, rivals the hotel with its new Lakeside Inn, in extending hospitality to the hotel's guests. The hotel's guests are only a few of the countless visitors who come to this beautiful spot, at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, set a standard of summering unrivalled anywhere in the world. ## DON'T USE BIG WORDS

In promulgating your esoteric cogitations or articulating your superficial sentimentalities and amicable philosophical or psychological observations, beware of platitudinous ponderosity. Let your conversational communications possess a clarified conciseness, a compact comprehensibility, a coallescent consistency, and a concatenated cency. Each of all conglomerations of flutulent garrulity, jejune hablement and asinine affectations. Let your extemporaneous descantings and unpredicated exaltations have intelligibility and voracious vivacity without rheumatoid or phrasal bombast. Scrudulously avoid all polyeylable profundity, pomous prolixity, plattaceous vacuity, ventriloquent vapidity. Shun double entendres, prurient jocosity, and pestiferous profanity, observant or otherwise. In other words, talk plainly, briefly, naturally, sensibly. Say what you mean, mean what you say, and "Don't use big words."—Millgate Weekly.

CORBIN HAPPENINGS

Rain in a steady downpour was experienced at Corbin all Monday night. Mrs. W. Stone had as her guest this week, her mother, Mrs. Volda, of Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Slemco are to be congratulated upon the birth of a daughter on Monday, August 31st.

A Salvation Army Sunday school picnic was held at Cold Springs by Mr. and Mrs. C. Venables, for the local children. The weather proved favorable on Saturday, and in spite of the smoke pall over the valley, the children and parents, who attended the picnic, had a thoroughly enjoyable time.

On Friday night last, a dance was held in the Club hall under the auspices of the Girls' Soft Ball Club, from which the girls netted a tidy sum for their depleted treasury.

On Sunday afternoon Corbin experienced a gentle rain shower of about two hours duration. Rain or snow is our only hope of completely ending the various spot fires in this district. Monday morning the inhabitants of Corbin were able to see blue sky overhead and breathe in pure air untainted by a strong smell of smoke.

By Monday night the air was again opaque with a strong smoke odor. The district around Cold Springs, eight miles north of Corbin, has been burning vigorously during the past week. For two days, Friday and Saturday, a strong wind from the north came up the valley fanning the flames to faster destruction in this part of the valley, and causing smouldering stumps, etc., to blaze up again all up the valley and around Corbin. This district has experienced a very dry summer, having had no rain for the past two months until the shower on Sunday afternoon.

Corbin footballers played Coal Creek on football on neutral ground at Fernie, the game having to be called on account of rain ten minutes before the final whistle, leaving the teams with a scoreless draw. On Monday afternoon the same two teams played to a 2-2 draw, and with twenty minutes overtime Corbin went out with a score of 3-2. Corbin will now meet the winners of the eastern half of the division.

DRY SQUADS OF

A. P. P. PLANNED

EDMONTON, Sept. 4.—Creation of separate squads of men at Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge with their duties solely in connection with liquor enforcement work, will be made by Lieut.-Col. W. C. Bryan, Alberta Provincial Police force head, when that organization takes over enforcement of the government liquor act.

Announcement of the principle of organization to carry on the work of the liquor enforcement branch of the Alberta Liquor Control Board, which is being turned over to the A.P.P., was made Friday by Commissioner Bryan.

Under present plans, groups of men will be appointed at the city centres and will have no other duty except the enforcement of the liquor act. In the Edmonton division, Inspector W. F. W. Hancock, head of "A" Division, and the Criminal Investigation department, will be in charge of the new group; Inspector Bavin, at Calgary, in charge of the division there, and Inspector Scott, Lethbridge, will direct the operations of the liquor detectives in those centres.

Commissioner Bryan points out, however, that while men will be named to carry out only the liquor act enforcement work, the entire force will co-operate in enforcing the act.

The A.P.P., he states, always has been active in this work, particularly in the south of the province, in preventing rum-running from Alberta into the United States.

He was unable to state Friday when the A.P.P. would officially take over the duties now done by the liquor enforcement branch.

Anton Chubak has been arrested in Calgary, charged with posting notices of a Communist mass meeting. Chubak was given suspended sentence.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Jack Cowin won prizes in both running and jumping at the Bellevue sports on Labor Day.

Miss Martha Tustian, who spent a few days with her parents, has returned to Calgary, accompanied by her sister Katha.

A father and son banquet was held in the United church here on Friday evening. Rev. Mr. Whitmore, of Pincher Creek, and Mr. Young, student minister, of Fishburn, who were present, assisted Mr. Horton, the local student minister, who through his untiring efforts made the event successful.

H. T. Murphy, of Calgary, paid a visit to his brother, M. A. Murphy, and family over the week end.

Mrs. James Leigh and daughter Verdon, of Calgary, were recent Cowley visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Peterschik, of Washington state, who were recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Franz, have returned home.

Miss Liddle, of Bardett, has returned from paying a visit to Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Duffield.

Following a dry spell of several weeks, a much-needed rain fell over the district which began at midnight Monday and kept up a steady downpour till Wednesday morning.

Forest and Gaylor Fink, who spent their early life on a ranch near the Old Man river, moving to Spokane with their parents several years ago, where they grew to manhood and have since gone into business, have returned to the district for a visit with relatives and friends.

PROVINCIAL FISH AND GAME ASS'N ANNUAL MEETING

The announcement is made by President F. Farley, of Camrose, that the annual meeting of the Alberta Fish and Game Association will be held in Calgary on Friday, November 20.

George Spargo, of Edmonton, secretary-treasurer, is advising all local fish and game associations that resolutions should be in his hands by October 15, as he proposes to have these consolidated and prepared in book form for the delegates. Mr. Spargo is anxious to have all resolutions in the hands of the local associations well in advance of the annual meeting, so that these associations will have a fair opportunity of studying the resolutions and be prepared to present their views at the convention.

With the transferring of the natural resources, the administration of the game and fish situation became a provincial responsibility. It is likely that many recommendations will be made in consequence of the new condition.

The wild duck situation will also receive serious attention, as will that which envelops other waterfowl and upland game birds, as well as big game.

This year it was Medicine Hat's turn to have the annual convention, but the sportsmen of that city, headed by Dave Dayes, took the broad view that if it were held there the attendance would not be so large as if it were held in Calgary, because of the fact that this was a more central city. They made inquiries of the provincial association and the other locals and their generous view was accepted.

It is expected that this year's attendance will be the largest and probably the most important held in years; by reason of the new and varied factors which will come up for discussion.

Eight mines in the Estevan district of Saskatchewan have been shut down through the strike order of James Sloan, national president of the Mine Workers Union of Canada.

He (on telephone) "Hello, darling—would you like to have dinner with me tonight?"

She—"I'd love to, dear."

He—"Well, tell your mother I'll be over at 7 o'clock."

DYNAMITE HOME

BLAIRMORE, Aug. 23.—A dynamite outrage which is believed to have some connection with the strike occurred here on Saturday when the house of Matt Green was shattered by a bomb placed on the kitchen window sill. Five people were sleeping in the house at the time but none of them was hurt. As showing its force a sewing machine was broken in bits and parts of it blown through the ceiling and boards were cut to ribbons like paper with scissors.—The Lethbridge Herald 20 years ago.

SPEEDY VOYAGERS
IN OTHER YEARS

The fine and fast performances of the Empress of Britain draw attention to the fact that, until recent years, there has been relatively little increase in speed of trans-Atlantic liners during the last half-century, for the ss. Alaska crossed the Atlantic from Queenstown (now Cobh in the south of Ireland) to New York in six days and some hours in 1882.

Twenty years before, in 1862, the Scotia made the same trip in nine days. The Alaska, which was a vessel of only 6,400 tons, held the record until in 1889 the City of Paris reduced the time by a few hours. The ss. Lusania, of 12,960 tons, crossed in 5 days, 8 hours in 1894. Three years later, the ss. Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, of 14,349 tons, completed the longer trip from Southampton to New York in six days, while in 1903 the ss. Deutschland, of 16,502 tons, steamed from Cherbourg to New York in 5 days, 12 hours. It was not until the Lusitania and Mauretania made their appearance in 1907 that any real advance was achieved. The latter, of 30,606 tons, set up a record of 4 days, 10 hours, 41 minutes from Queenstown to New York in 1907.

Fifteen years later, in 1924, the Mauretania established a new record of 5 days, 1 hour, 49 minutes from New York to Cherbourg. Then came the Bremen, in 1929, with a new record of 4 days 15 hours, 17 minutes from Cherbourg to New York, which the Mauretania was unable to surpass, although she lowered her own previous mark in the attempt. Not long after the Europa made her bid for recognition on her maiden trip.

Travelling Halibut
A halibut was tagged by the International Fisheries Commission at Mukushin Bay, west of Dutch Harbor in Alaska, June 16, 1930. It was recaptured eleven miles south of Goose Island on the B.C. coast on June 5th last by Captain John Sarpes of the halibut fishing vessel "Maddock." In the period of 355 days between being tagged and captured it had travelled 1,566 miles, an average of 4.4 miles a day. J. P. Bock, chairman of the Halibut Commission, says this is a record migration among the thousands of halibut that have been tagged.

For World Peace

Viscount Cecil Believes Disarmament Would Cure Unemployment.
Disarmament is the most effective means of curing the unemployment ills of the world, Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, said in an interview with the United Press.

Viscount Cecil, better known as Sir Robert Cecil, is a veteran in the campaign for international peace and disarmament. He is one of the most ardent supporters of the League of Nations as a means for preserving peace among nations.

"The world is suffering from a want of confidence," he said. "Disarmament, huge capital would be released. If business men throughout the world were quite confident they might count on 50 years of uninterrupted peace, they would regain their courage, begin new undertakings, and develop their present business."

"I have not the least doubt that if we could effect large economy in armaments, huge capital would be released for other and much more remunerative business. Disarmament is equally desirable from any way it is regarded. Any money spent for armaments is more than thrown away, economically speaking."

Viscount Cecil admitted the possibility that a sudden decrease in the building of armaments would throw many people out of work, but added that the best that could be hoped for was a gradual reduction, which would enable armament firms to change from building war material to peaceful pursuit. This change, he said, would be for the greater benefit of the world industrial outlook.

"I believe that the United States attitude that it is not desirable to grant financial facilities which will permit preparations for war is fully appreciated in Europe," he said. "At any rate, Britain largely sympathizes with such an attitude."

Asked if Britain resented reports that the United States would insist on armament reduction if she granted further loans, Viscount Cecil replied: "I think President Hoover's line is quite sound."

Montreal Port

British Engineers Speak Highly Of Efficiency Of Grain Handling Facilities

High praise for Montreal as a grain handling port was forthcoming recently from a noted authority.

"I think Montreal has the most efficient grain handling facilities of any port of the world," Sir Alexander Gibb, British engineer and expert on the construction and administration of ports, said following a four-hour inspection of the harbour. During the time he saw grain discharged from lake steamers, and from railway cars by the mechanical unloaders and the shakers. He followed the grain through the elevators, walking along miles of conveyors, and saw it loaded into ocean liners for carriage to some foreign port.

What came before? Captain Jimmy is forced down on a deserted island waiting for a rescue from China to Japan. They have said to decide to try their luck at fishing.

Early the next morning we knifed a huge trout on the bald peak of the island, and sat on stony wet grass to make smoke. If any ship passed within miles it would be sure to see our signal.

All day we gathered wood and dried it near, so we could make a big fire at night. The interpreter and I went down to the shore to fish.

Taking a walk from my camp, I found a rough fish hook. This I fastened to the end of a long cord, and cutting off a corner of General Lu's bright colored cloak, we had a home-made, but attractive bait.

The interpreter begged for a chance to try his luck. I let him so first. We selected a little sandy cove, where the tide ran deep holes between two rocks. At high tide the water formed a clear pool, shallow at the edges, but rapidly sloping down until the bottom disappeared among the green shadows.

The interpreter waded out to his waist, then dropped his bait into the pool. General Lu and I sat on the shore and watched him. Suddenly he gave a quick yank—his pole bent almost double. His great fish leaped high in the air, and the battle was on.

General Lu set still as a mummy, but I fought that fish all over again. Several times he rose to the surface and came down with a grand splash. Then we could see it scolding along just a few inches below water—straight toward its captor.

Right between the interpreter's legs, he lunged his line in the line. Then both fish and Chinese subsided out of sight. A tremendous fuss and splashing began, after which the Chinese arose, dripping, with his prize clasped tightly in his arms.

Trials Are Sometimes Unfair If As Claimed

Pensions tribunals were at times unfair in their hearing of pension claims of war veterans, it was charged at the Ontario Provincial Convention of the Canadian Legion held at Oshawa.

In some cases war veterans had been subjected to indignities by pension advocates, it was declared. A special committee was appointed to hear any complaints which delegates might wish to make concerning pension administration. The convention was unanimously of the opinion that existing pension legislation in Canada was the best to be found in any country, but delegates were convinced that some improvements might be made in administration.

FIFTEEN WINS DISTINCTION

The distinction of having piped before two reigning Siamese monarchs went to Piper William Campbell, of New Westminster, B.C., after King Prajadhipok, incognito as Prince Sukhodaya, officially opened the Banff Highland Gathering on Thursday, August 27, at Banff Springs Hotel.

In 1894, when King Chulalongkorn, of Siam, father of the present Siamese ruler, visited England, Piper "Willie" Campbell was special piper to Her Majesty Queen Victoria and in that capacity accompanied the two sovereigns wherever they went. In the picture (right) which appeared in the London Graphic of 1894, King Chulalongkorn is shown with Queen Victoria. Piper Campbell is in the left of the same picture. On the extreme left he is shown photographed at Banff, where he has attended the annual Highland Gatherings since their inauguration.

The pair looked too funny for words. I heard a laugh when the General gave a sharp exclamation and pointed to the end of the line. For an instant I froze with dread. A sinister black figure, the smooth surface of the water like an arrow, rushing toward me, I knew would come. With a yell I grasped a short sword which General Lu still wore at his side, and plunged into the water between the rushing black fish and Her Fish.

The shark turned and made for me instead. The water reacted my belt—too high for quick action. I waited for the onrush. The water reacted my belt—too high for quick action. I waited for the onrush. The water reacted my belt—too high for quick action. I waited for the onrush.

Meantime the Chinese rushed for the beach yelling strange sounding things at the top of his voice. The silver fish swam slowly toward me. I held it with a great grip on its face, and the beautiful silver fish swam slowly toward me. I held it with a great grip on its face, and the beautiful silver fish swam slowly toward me.

The ADVENTURES OF CAPTAIN JIMMY and his Dog SCOTTIE

WHAT CAME BEFORE? Captain Jimmy is forced down on a deserted island waiting for a rescue from China to Japan. They have said to decide to try their luck at fishing.

Early the next morning we knifed a huge trout on the bald peak of the island, and sat on stony wet grass to make smoke. If any ship passed within miles it would be sure to see our signal.

All day we gathered wood and dried it near, so we could make a big fire at night. The interpreter and I went down to the shore to fish.

Taking a walk from my camp, I found a rough fish hook. This I fastened to the end of a long cord, and cutting off a corner of General Lu's bright colored cloak, we had a home-made, but attractive bait.

The interpreter begged for a chance to try his luck. I let him so first. We selected a little sandy cove, where the tide ran deep holes between two rocks. At high tide the water formed a clear pool, shallow at the edges, but rapidly sloping down until the bottom disappeared among the green shadows.

The interpreter waded out to his waist, then dropped his bait into the pool. General Lu and I sat on the shore and watched him. Suddenly he gave a quick yank—his pole bent almost double. His great fish leaped high in the air, and the battle was on.

General Lu set still as a mummy, but I fought that fish all over again. Several times he rose to the surface and came down with a grand splash. Then we could see it scolding along just a few inches below water—straight toward its captor.

Right between the interpreter's legs, he lunged his line in the line. Then both fish and Chinese subsided out of sight. A tremendous fuss and splashing began, after which the Chinese arose, dripping, with his prize clasped tightly in his arms.

Trials Are Sometimes Unfair If As Claimed

Pensions tribunals were at times unfair in their hearing of pension claims of war veterans, it was charged at the Ontario Provincial Convention of the Canadian Legion held at Oshawa.

In some cases war veterans had been subjected to indignities by pension advocates, it was declared. A special committee was appointed to hear any complaints which delegates might wish to make concerning pension administration. The convention was unanimously of the opinion that existing pension legislation in Canada was the best to be found in any country, but delegates were convinced that some improvements might be made in administration.

FIFTEEN WINS DISTINCTION

The distinction of having piped before two reigning Siamese monarchs went to Piper William Campbell, of New Westminster, B.C., after King Prajadhipok, incognito as Prince Sukhodaya, officially opened the Banff Highland Gathering on Thursday, August 27, at Banff Springs Hotel.

In 1894, when King Chulalongkorn, of Siam, father of the present Siamese ruler, visited England, Piper "Willie" Campbell was special piper to Her Majesty Queen Victoria and in that capacity accompanied the two sovereigns wherever they went. In the picture (right) which appeared in the London Graphic of 1894, King Chulalongkorn is shown with Queen Victoria. Piper Campbell is in the left of the same picture. On the extreme left he is shown photographed at Banff, where he has attended the annual Highland Gatherings since their inauguration.

The pair looked too funny for words. I heard a laugh when the General gave a sharp exclamation and pointed to the end of the line. For an instant I froze with dread. A sinister black figure, the smooth surface of the water like an arrow, rushing toward me, I knew would come. With a yell I grasped a short sword which General Lu still wore at his side, and plunged into the water between the rushing black fish and Her Fish.

The shark turned and made for me instead. The water reacted my belt—too high for quick action. I waited for the onrush. The water reacted my belt—too high for quick action. I waited for the onrush. The water reacted my belt—too high for quick action. I waited for the onrush.

Meantime the Chinese rushed for the beach yelling strange sounding things at the top of his voice. The silver fish swam slowly toward me. I held it with a great grip on its face, and the beautiful silver fish swam slowly toward me. I held it with a great grip on its face, and the beautiful silver fish swam slowly toward me.

"I've had a Nancy, and—and a mother."

She looked up at him with pleading eyes. Halliday winced, and Uncle Sim said tactfully: "I don't doubt, little girl, but what Sonny'd be real proud to lend you his mother, and his little sister, too, most any time. And you got a daddy you think a whole heap of, or my name ain't Simson Augustus Bartlett."

The child looked up at Halliday with a smile that was sweet as a caress. "Martha Halliday," called Julie from the window, "you got to come right in now and get ready if you're goin' to church with me."

"Seems like Julie Nippis is gettin' pretty regular in her devotions," commented Simson dryly. "Ain't seen her miss Sunday in three weeks?"

"It's her penitential week," Martha explained soberly. "She says there's no use having it if you don't go some where to show it off. It cost twenty-five dollars takes her carfare to Summerfield."

"Well, well," chuckled Simson. "It would be a pity if the Lord was to overlook it after Julie's goin' to all that expense. I've heard of some strange things bein' the cause of salvation, Halliday, but I do no but have 'er hair crimped, is the strangest yet. You run along, child, and get ready like Julie says. Tain't everyone has the chance to go to church along beside an expensive head like that."

"When I grow up I'm going to have one, too," Martha announced soberly.

"You won't need one," smiled Halliday, rumpling her curls with a tender hand. "Your good fairy gave you one when you were born."

"SUFFERED EVERY MONTH"

"WHEN I was twelve years old my mother wanted me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but I wouldn't. If I had I might have been a well girl now. I have suffered terribly every month."

"The girls where I work used the Vegetable Compound and urged me to try it. It helped my nerves. I intend to keep on using it all well and strong." Miss Rose Lane, 6 Brighton Avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

"You don't get penitential waves from fairies," said Martha, with feminine scorn for his ignorance. "You get 'em at the hairdresser's in Summerfield."

Halliday's laugh carried across the garden to where Nick sat on the porch worshipping his daughter, while Gay lay in the hammock beside him. He was holding the baby with all the ease of a veteran father, and saying "Young lady, if you don't grow up the image of your mother, I'll disown you."

Gay smiled.

"Better be careful what you threaten, Daddy. She has her father's straight, aristocratic nose."

"You can't tell about noses this soon," said Nick, grinning. "But anyhow, I'll forgive her the nose so long as she keeps your eyes. Wonder what's happening across the way. I haven't heard Halliday laugh like that in a dog's age."

He spoke of it again that evening, when "The Sim was indulging in a pre-lunch smoke in company with their neighbor. The night was still with the stillness of a summer Sunday, and occasionally the rumble of the old man's chuckle was carried to them on the air.

"Halliday's got a firm ally in Uncle Sim," said Nick. "A year ago who would have dreamed of such a thing? But there's a big change in Halliday. He told me the other day that he was heartily ashamed of some of the stories he's published, though at the time he thought them merely realistic! He's written a book now—a child's book. Just imagine it! It's something he invented for Martha's benefit, and she begged him to write it down. That little girl has done a lot for him; but I've an idea that his reformation's not wholly due to her."

Gay did not speak. She was visioning the night when Halliday had said goodbye to her, before starting out on what had seemed like a hopeless quest. He had called her "a light in the dark." He had kissed her hands, gently and reverently, to be sure, but not as one kisses the hands of a sister or a friend. Gay knew what had changed James Halliday; but, since it was his secret.

Nick was saying, quietly: "Do you know what I think has changed him, Gay? I think it's you."

She started, visibly.

"Why—why should you think that?"

"Just a hunch, that's all. He's been unhappy, and, knowing you—seeing what a woman can be, dear—well, it would mean a lot to a lonely man like Halliday."

A fugitive smile hovered on Gay's lips.

"Isn't it possible that you overrate my virtues? I wonder" (there was the least bit of a pause), "I wonder when Mrs. Halliday is coming back? It was the first time she had mentioned Angela, and Nick himself had no desire to speak of her. Now he said: 'Not at present. Never to Bakerfield. I think. That's what I gathered from something Halliday said.'"

"You don't mean they've separated?"

"I believe they don't call it a separation, but it amounts to the same thing. She's going abroad for the winter anyhow, and Halliday's to stay here with Martha. She is—Nick hesitated and flushed a little. "You were right about Mrs. Halliday. Gay's not to be trusted."

Gay's hand slipped into his.

"Is that all you have to tell me, dear old boy?"

He looked at her, laughing in a way that would have reassured even a doubting wife, and Gay was very far from being that.

"Are you expecting a tale of intrigue and treachery, my dear? Well, there was intrigue, perhaps, on my part, but no treachery on mine. Do you remember when Uncle Sim expounded the laws of a happy marriage to us? He said if ever I made a fool of myself that I was to own up and you'd forgive me."

"And you made a fool of yourself, Nick?"

"No; that is, not a noticeable fool; but will you forgive me just the same?"

"For what?"

"For not seeing through the lady in the first place."

She smiled.

"What opened your eyes at last?"

Nick looked thoughtfully into space. "I'm trying," he said slowly, as if he were thinking to get at the real truth, "I think that first it was a kiss. Later—"

"A kiss! Nick, you—you—"

Nick grinned.

"Don't get excited, Gay. It was she kissed me; an absolutely surprising and unlooked-for case. It—flabbergasted me, as Uncle Sim would say. I vowed that night I'd tell you all about it. Hence this confession."

"And—later?"

He turned, meeting her eyes squarely.

"We won't go into that." Unknown to himself Nick's voice had taken on an unfamiliar harshness. "It was only a scene—a scene between Mrs. Halliday, her husband, and myself. It showed me just what she was; and I tell you Gay, James Halliday needs all the sympathy you can give him. I can't say any more about it. I can't even think of it, and stay calm. Some day, perhaps, I'll tell you. Not now. All I ask is that you believe that I've done nothing to be ashamed of."

"I never believed anything else, Nick; only I wondered—"

"Don't wonder."

He drew her close for a long moment, and kissed her gently. After her journey into a land of doubt and fear, she seemed something exquisitely dear and fragile to him. He said, quietly: "Gay—you should have told me about the baby. It would have saved—"

"I know," she broke in hurriedly. "I know; but I couldn't foresee the things that were to happen, could I? And I was worried about you. Nick. You weren't yourself. Mr. Maxwell saw it as well as I. We knew you needed a change—a chance to get away from all perplexities and worries. Besides, I wanted you to feel free, dear. I have always wanted you to feel free. You shared your freedom with me so generously. I said to myself the day we went away together, when I was typing up that ridiculous handbook, that whatever happened I must never by word or look mark the joy of your adventure."

"And Life's an adventure to you, Nick—the whole of it. It's just as that, somehow, we have to travel. I've tried, honestly, to help make it the happy highway she wanted you to know; but I've sometimes thought" (Gay smiled, a smile that illumined her face softly like candle-light) "I've sometimes feared, Nick, that I've been responsible for a good deal of dust along the way."

He met her smile with eyes that were wholly serious.

"Dust! I'd say you were the brook that quenched my burning thirst. You have never failed me, Gay. You never will; nor shall I fail you. I've had time to think in these weeks when you've seemed so frail that I've been almost afraid to look at you for fear I'd see you blow away. I've thrashed out this freedom business from A to Z. And I know at last that freedom is not the ability to answer the call of the road at a moment's notice. It's not the shifting of life's responsibilities to other shoulders. It's something within ourselves—this freedom; and once we know it—once we honestly believe it—we are free!"

A silence followed before Gay said gently: "I've known that for a long time, Nick. I could have told you, of course; but—but I thought you'd be-happier to find it out yourself."

"Nick answered, his voice a bit untidy: 'You are a very understanding person, Gay.'"

It was dark now on the little porch, and very peaceful. Dim stars shone faintly above; and the air from the garden was sweet with the fragrance of summer. A breeze sprang out of the West, stirring the leaves in the tree-tops; and far in the distance, lightning brightened the sky.

Gay rested her cheek contentedly against Nick's shoulder. He smiled, moving his arm to bring her closer, while through the evening stillness came the echo of Uncle Sim's big laugh.

"It's a great old world!" said Nick.

British Capital For Canada

Large Sums Sent Over For Investment in Dominion

The influx of enormous sums of British capital for investment in Canada over a period of two years has been one of the factors supporting the market for high grade Canadian securities during the current difficult period, according to A. W. Blue, financial editor of the Montreal Star, in an article published in that paper recently.

Initiated over two years ago, when the land-tax question was prominent in English politics, the flow has gained momentum in recent months and runs into many millions of dollars. The article follows, in part:

"It is stated that local investment banking houses have handled as much as $6,000,000 and $7,000,000 for individual British clients, while numerous accounts run to more conservative denominations."

"So persistent has been the flow of funds, and in such proportion that the movement is virtually tantamount to a flight from the pound," not inspired by fear that Great Britain will find it impossible to solve her problems, but rather by a desire to escape the growing weight of taxation and in all its various forms, now so onerous a burden in England.

The article follows, in part: "This movement is both interesting and significant. It reflects a confidence in Canada and her future possibilities as an investment centre, which in turn implies commercial and industrial growth and progress."

Cultivating Walnuts in B.C.

Walnut culture in British Columbia is becoming quite successful and trees this year are producing a heavy crop. Success has been quite marked in the Okanagan, the lower mainland and in Vancouver Island where the growers have been experimenting for a few years, and at Esquimalt where a grove of walnuts was planted nearly ten years ago and will now probably yield about 1,600 pounds of nuts.

Offer Corn As Fuel

Burn-a-bushel-of-corn-a-day clubs will be formed in this part of Iowa this fall if present plans materialize. Corn has excellent heating qualities and is selling for $3 a ton less than coal, farmer proponents of the plan say. Through the clubs it is proposed to eliminate the surplus with the hope of increasing the price of corn 25 cents a bushel.

Canadian Banks Sound

Have Withstood Depression While Hundreds in States Have Failed

Canadian banks are blamed for many things from time to time, and there are those who would make extensive changes in the banking system if they had the opportunity, but for business people and the general public there must be a great source of satisfaction in the stability they have shown during the stress of recent months.

In the same time hundreds of banks in the United States have failed and the depositors have lost vast sums of money. Three large banks in Toledo, Ohio, decided to close their doors, and a fourth asked that its affairs be taken over by the State Banking Department. Assets worth more than $100,000,000 are tied up. At the same time eleven savings associations under the building and loan laws of Ohio said they would have to cease permitting withdrawals.

No situation such as this has faced any Canadian community nor any depositor in a Canadian bank in the present emergency. Unquestionably there is much to be said for a system which puts such rigid safeguards around the people's money.—Ottawa Journal.

Convention Cancelled

Annual Meeting Of Canadian Clubs Will Not Be Held This Year

Announcement that the annual meeting of the Association of Canadian Clubs, scheduled to have been held in Regina, September 11 and 12, will not take place, came from Graham Spry, the association's national secretary.

While no official reason for the decision was given out, it is understood that due to prevailing economic conditions the affiliated clubs of the association agreed to a recommendation of the national executive that this year's sessions be eliminated.

According to a report made by Mr. Spry at a recent executive meeting, the association is concluding a most successful year. There are now affiliated with the association 94 of the 105 active Canadian clubs from coast to coast.

SYMBOLS

Not the cloud, or the wave, or the bough

Is the thing that I love,

Though I linger till dusk turns to dark

As the sky's pageants move.

Though I find in the voice of the sea

Always comfort and peace,

And that deep in the forest's green

Care will grant me release.

Through the glory of cloud-flight I

To the glory beyond,

And I seek for the stars in the sky,

Not the stars in the pond.

Not earth's beauties before me that move,

But it is loved hands that I love,

But the love they express!

City Appeals To Women

U.S. Census Shows More Men Remain On Farm

Girls and women of the United States were more numerous than boys and men in the great trek from the farm to the cities in the late decade, the Census Bureau reports. Women outnumber men in the cities in a ratio of 100 to 98. That the city has appealed most to women is shown in the presence of 9,000,000 more women in the cities than men on the farm. The female urban population is 34,800,063, while 25,837,903 remain in rural areas. The urban male population is 34,154,760, while 27,982,320 live on the farm.

Drakes Of Modern Times

Men Recently Sailed Across Atlantic In Small Boats

Ten little sailboats set out from Newport on July 4 on a race across the ocean to The Lizard, off Plymouth. The winner was the "Dorade," ran into Plymouth Harbour, almost exactly seventeen days out from this side. One of the others had to signal to a passing liner for supplies and to have two of her crew taken off after a storm that partially dismasted her. Having got what she needed, she set off again to make up for lost time.

To set sail across the North Atlantic in a fifty-foot yawl calls for a lot of courage to begin with. There are wicked summer storms that shake up even the biggest liners and in which these cockle shells would seem to have but the smallest chance of survival. To cross a seventeen days, some of them of light airs, means not only courage but the willingness to take every chance.

We marvel at the courage of the men of old who crossed the Western Ocean in their tiny ships, but the British and American skippers are their worthy successors. The ocean has not changed since 1492 and a 50-foot yacht in the grip of its wrath would be just as helpless as a "Golden Hind" or a "Santa Maria." We still have our Drakes, our de Gamas and our Magellans, even in what is said to be a softer age.

Turkish Women Lose Jobs

Street Cleaners Talked Too Much and Neglected Work

Turkish women are swallowing their first defeat since the Kemalists opened all doors to them; they have been found wanting at the job of street cleaning.

"No more women street cleaners," announced the Istanbul municipality. "They have been given a four-year trial, and the streets of the city of the Golden Horn are dirtier than ever. Women fell down on the job because being in the streets gave them too irresistible an opportunity for leaning on their brooms and gossiping."

The High River Times remarks: Agnes McPhail is no purring fire-side pet, and the chance is she will never be either Mrs. R. B. Bennett or Mrs. Mackenzie King. The reason for this, as copied from Hansard, is given below. This is part of her speech: "I have often wished I had a wide vocabulary, but I never hear the leader of the opposition say that I do not rejoice in my infirmity. I would say to the prime minister that there is nothing quite so hard to live with as selfrighteousness, and if he intends to live with human beings, it would be well for him some time to be wrong." Such a woman!
